4) Behavioral segmentations.

Dividing the market based on consumer behavior toward the product variable

* wage rate
* purchas occasion

Assigment - 8.

1. Analyze the ways that segmention helps firm the recover customer needs even in saturated market with a ex.

Market segmentation help firm divide a large market into smaller groups based on customer needs age, income, lifestyle on preference

It allows companies to identify specific customer needs that may not a satified in a saturated market.

Firms can design targeted products pricing and marketing strategies for each segment.

example: The snack brand Tao kae noi targeted young consumer who prefer tasty and convenient sea wed snacks, offering different flavor and Attractive packaging to meet the even-shop.